HALIFAX: Printed and Sold by Anthony Henry and Mr. Fletcher's on the Parade.

Courteous READER,

MR. CARLUS, having made some sort of Apology, for his request of the 24th May 1770, seems to insist on my performing my promise, by giving him an Answer. I have therefore taken the liberty of this vacant Page, (which I am sensible might have been put to a much better Use) to satisfy his curiosity. And altho' I have been very careful in my Calculation, and spared no pains in pointing out to him the true time of the Anniversary of his birth agreeable to his Request, yet I am much mistaken, if he does not find himself as much in the dark hereafter, as ever he was.

Mr. CARLUS,

YOU tell me you were born on the Eleventh Day of December 1729 old Stile, at nine o'Clock in the Morning, I suppose you mean precisely, but that you are at a loss for the true Anniversary of your Birth according to the New-Stile. You therefore request to know the Day, Hour and Minute of the Day, in December 1770, that you will be 41 Years of Age; this is the Tenor of your Letter.

The Stile, which seems to puzzle you so much, was changed by Act of Parliament, in the 25th Year of His late Majesty's Reign, viz. 1751, all over the Dominions of Great-Britain, and the Year fixed the same as at the NICEŒNE COUNCIL. Yet it is certain that true time is not exactly adjusted thereby, there being an error of almost three whole Days; which happened thro' the Inadvertency of a certain great Astronomer, who was one of the principal Mathematicians in correcting the Stile. But as this Error happened between the Julian reformation and the NICEŒNE COUNCIL, it cannot effect the matter in which you desire to be resolved. Observe then Mr. Carlus, that on the 22d Day of December 1770 new-Stile at 8h. 33m. 9f. in the Evening, you were precisely 41 Years of Age according to the true Computation of Time. But you are not to infer from hence, that the true Anniversary of your Birth will constantly recur at the same time of the Day, but will vary every Year, and in some certain Years will extend to the Morning of the Day next following the 22d, and cannot be restored to it's first Agreement, in less than a Cycle of near 6000 Years, which period I am pretty well assured you will not live to see.

And now I imagine, notwithstanding I have answered your Demand, that you will be as much at a loss in future as you have been in any Year past, for the true Anniversary of your Birth, since you must have it to a minute; but that is no fault of mine; you asked for the true time of it's recurring in one Year only, I have given it; and if you should still be curious in this matter, so far as to desire a Rule for performing the Operation in future, you must go to school and study for it as I have done.

Yours &c.

A. LILIUS.

ECLIPSES in the Year 1772.

THERE will be six Eclipses this Year, four of the Sun, and two of the Moon, in the following Order. The first will be of the Sun, April the Third, about one o'Clock in the Morning, Invisible. The Second will be of the Moon, April 17th, about forty Minutes after 11 o'Clock, in the forenoon, Invisible. The Third will be of the Sun, May the 2d, about 24 minutes after Five in the afternoon, Invisible, by reason of the Moon's South Latitude. The Fourth will be of the Sun, Sept. 26th, about 8 o'Clock in the Evening, Invisible. The Fifth will be of the Moon, October the 11th, about 10 minutes after one o'Clock, at noon, Invisible. The Sixth will be of the Sun, October 26th, about 20 minutes after Five o'Clock, in the morning, Invisible.

The Planet Venus (♀) will be Evening-Star to the 12th Day of August, and Morning Star to the End of the Year.

I. January hath XXXI Days, 1772.

Now all amidst the Rigours of the Year,
In the wild Depth of Winter, while without
The ceaseless Winds blow Ice, be my retreat
A rural sheltered solitary Scene;
Where ruddy Fire, and beaming Tapers join,
To cheer the Gloom.

February hath XXIX Days, 1772.

Dread Winter spreads his latest Gloom,
And reigns tremendous o'er the conquer'd Year.
How dead the vegetable Kingdom lies!
How dumb the tuneful! Horror wide extends
His melancholy Empire. Here fond Man!
Behold thy pictur'd Life; pass some few Years.
Thy flowering Spring, thy Summer's ardent Strength,
Thy sober Autumn fading into Age,
And pale concluding Winter comes at last,
And shuts the Scene.

III. March hath XXXI Days, 1772.

——— Borrow part of Winter for thy corn;
 And early with thy Team the Glebe in Furrows turn;
 That while the Turf lies open, and unbound,
 Succeeding Suns may take the mellow Ground:
 But if the Soil be barren, only fear
 The Surface, and but lightly print the Share.

IV. April hath XXX Days, 1772.

The penetrative Sun
His Force deep-darting to the dark Retreat.
Of Vegetation, sets the steaming Power
At large, to wander o'er the verdant Earth.
From the moist Meadow to the wither'd Hill
Led by the Breeze, the vivid Verdure runs
And swells, and deepens, to the cherish'd Eye.

At once array'd
In all the Colours of the flushing Year
By Nature's swift, and secret working Hand,
The Garden glows, and fills the lib'ral Air
With lavin' Fragrance; while the promis'd Fruit
Lies yet a little Embri'd, unperceiv'd
Within its crimson Folds.

I. June hath XXX Days, 1772.

All swell the Woods, there every music wakes,
Mist in wild Concert, with the warbling Brooks
Increas'd, the distant Bleatings of the Hills,
The hollow Lows responsive from the Vale.
Can Man forbear to join the general Smile,
Of Nature? can fierce Passions vex his Breast,
While every Gale is Peace, and every Grove is melody.

All,
From Pole to Pole is undistinguished Blaze.

Hot ascending Streams,
And keen Reflection pain.—The Mower sinking heaps
O'er him the humid Hay, with Flowers perfum'd,
And scarce a chirping Grass-hopper is heard
Thro' the dumb Mead. Distressful nature pants.

— Let us tread the Maze
Of Autumn uncouth'd; and taste, reviv'd
The Breath of Orchard, big with bending Fruit,
Obedient to the Breeze, and beating Way
From the deep-loaded Bough, a mellow Shower
Incessant melts away. The juicy Pear,
— The downy Peach, the shining Plumb.

Some Cyders have, by art or Age, unlearn'd
 Their genuine Relish, & of sundry Vines—Assum'd the Flavour
 —A German oft has swill'd his Throat, and sworn,
 Deluded, that imperial Rhine bestow'd
 The generous Rummer, whilst the Owner pleas'd
 Laughs only at his Guests, thus entertain'd
 With foreign Vintage from his Cyder-Cask.

XI. November hath XXX Days, 1772.

See Winter comes, to rule the vary'd Year,
Sullen and sad with all his rising Train;
—Vapours, and Clouds, and Storms—
Hang o'er the farthest Verge of Heaven,—the Sun
Scarce spreads o'er Ether the dejected Day.

December hath XXXI Days, 1772.

— Descending to the long dark Night,
Wide shading all, the prostrate World resigns.
Nor is the Night unwill'd; while vital Heat,
Light, Life, and Joy, the dubious Day forsake.

— The cherish'd Fields
Put on their Winter Robes of purest White,
